

Sunlight Sutra by Joey Madia

I fell asleep
on the living room floor
while reading
of quantum physics
and superstring theory.

The light shining in thru the semi-blinded windows enlightened the lines
on the page
which, liberated,
lifted and swirled,
rearranging themselves
into every book every made.

It's all in my mind
already.

Reading just illuminates it like the animal
in the road
who suddenly seems to appear
from nowhere
in the lights.

March 16, 2006